

The following Mandala is representative of the main areas in life. You can use this to help keep a balance in your life. By changing the colours in each circle and saving to your desktop you can indicate which areas of your life are satisfactory and which areas you may wish to improve on.

